

DCS BOSS

October 19, 2020

Dear Detroit Community Schools (DCS) Students and Parents,

It is a privilege to begin this school year with the launch of Detroit Community Schools' brand new Business of Sports School (BOSS) program. BOSS is an innovative interdisciplinary educational approach that connects DCS students to "real life" work in the sports industry – a multi-billion-dollar industry in the United States and around the globe. The industry provides tens of thousands of exciting jobs to those who have the skills and desire to build a career in the field of sports management.

We, at DCS, are equally excited that Dr. Mark S. Rosentraub, Professor of Sports Management, School of Kinesiology/The University of Michigan Center for Sport and Policy is partnering with the DCS Boss program. Dr. Rosentraub and his colleagues will assist in guiding the BOSS program at DCS.

DCS' Athletic Director Henry Washington, a former pro baseball player, is the Coordinator for the new BOSS program. Coach Washington holds a Masters in Sports Administration; is an Instructor of Wellness at Macomb Community College; and a volunteer in Workshops in the Sports Administration Department at Wayne State University's Volunteer Administration and Coaches Training program.

At DCS BOSS, a student will have the opportunity to become a star in the game that manages and supports the big games. Detroit Community Schools is accepting applications for the BOSS program. To enroll in DCS BOSS and learn more about career opportunities call 313.537.3570 ext. 444 or go to www.detcomschools.org

Sincerely,

Nancy Berkompas
DCS Superintendent

Dr. Mark S. Rosentraub
Director of University of Michigan's Center for Sports and Policy

12675 BURT ROAD
DETROIT MI 48223
313-537-3570

www.detcomschools.org